

DID YOU KNOW?

On a snowy day, we were always thrilled at the thought of no school. The high school boys would head outside to shovel the walkways. The girls wanted to help, but our houseparents said we weren't allowed, probably because we were girls. While the boys were shoveling in front of the girls' dorms, we would run to the windows, peek out, and flirt with them from inside. We also have great memories of heading down to the football field to sled and build snowmen together. Those snowy days created some of our favorite memories.
